NAVIGATOR

ON THE COVER

"Installing Democracy" is part of a series of watercolour paintings, created almost daily, during the run-up to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections in India. These paintings also document the most significant election year in human history, which will seal the fate of millions of people worldwide, not only shaping geopolitics, but also the very nature of democratic rights for years to come. The question is: when the dust settles, where will we be? Far better or worse?
