STORY

24

Following the deadly attack on tourists by Pakistan-sponsored terrorists, India has struck with unprecedented force. With no signs of de-escalation, it remains to be seen how long this confrontation will last. Also: How was Operation Sindoor planned?

AN EYE FOR AN EYE

PLUS

Ground report from border villages along the LoC

Col (retd) Nilesh Kunwar

Should Gen Munir decide to escalate the situation, he would be doing so at his own peril

Gp Capt (retd) R.K. Narang

The aerial technologies will play a critical role in building deterrence

Commodore (retd) R.S. Vasan

Top military echelon in Pakistan would now factor in the element of surprise from the seas as a real threat

22 MAHARASHTRA

A new expressway project has farmers across Marathwada up in arms

54 WORLD

India and the UK can forge a common future, and racism and hate crimes need not come in the way, says Lisa Nandy, British secretary of state for culture

56 EMPOWERMENT

Alina Alam's MITTI Café employs only people with disabilities, and it has been endorsed by no less than the president of India

74 LAST WORD
Navtej Sarna

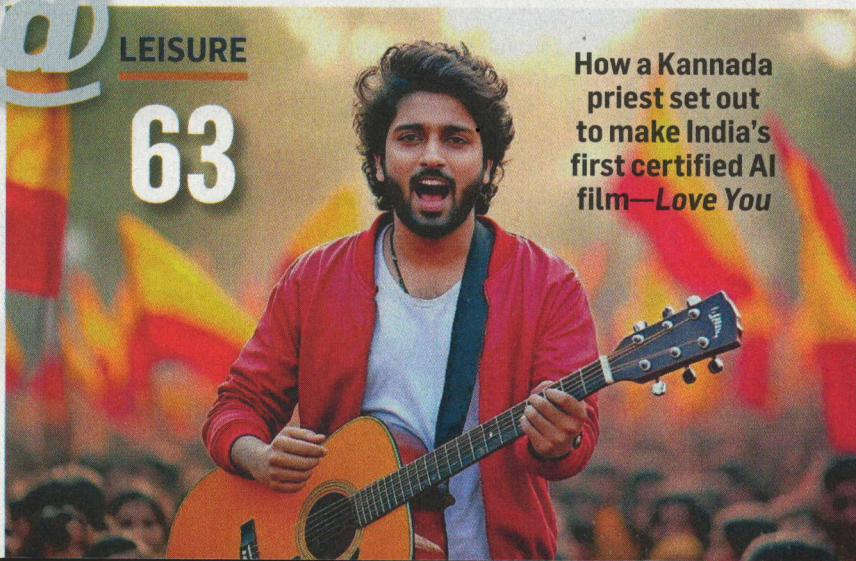

Our message to the world is clear. We do not seek conflict, but will not submit to terrorism. Our hand is extended in peace, but it will not tremble when forced to act. We are a civilisation rooted in compassion, but we are also a republic forged in courage and resolve.
